A FRIEND OF EDUCATION DECEASED. Matthew Vassar, of Poughkeepsie, under of Vassar College, died sudden-y on the morning of June 23d, aged 7 cears. In 1861 he gave $108,000 for found-ing the Vassar Female College, accom-anying the gilf with a statement of his vishes. It was his purpose to offer coming women the highest educational ilities at a moderate expense, but t mit as beneficiaries thuse who coul lmit as beneficiaries thus who could of defray this expense. The site of the ollege is about one mile from Pough-cepsie, and consists of about two hun-keepsie, and rousists of about two hundred wers. The buildings were commenced in 1861, and have been completed and occupied three years.

A daughter of C. N. Warren, Esq., of Lauisville, is among the graduates of this college this year. She was for three years previous one of the most faithful and exemplary students of the Female High School.

We refer our readers to the advertise-ments, in to-day's paper, of the teachers who expect to give lustruction during the yeartion he vncation.

Although our advertisement is not here, we intend to instruct young people who voluntarily apply. We shall begin at our residence, No. 2a First street, to-morrow marning. PENALE TEACHERS. According to statistics women are generally largely outunmbering men as teachers in public schools. The census of the country shows that out of 150,210 beachers, 100,000 are women. The disproportion is more marked in cities. In New York, in a total over of 2,000, only 178 are males; in Pulladelphia, 83 in 1,300; in Loniswille, 25 in 198.

The reason is evident. Men are not willing to continue bug in a profession

The reason is evident, Men are not willing to continue bong in a profession where a higher salary than $3,000 is seldom given, the average salary being much less. The time will come when probably women alone will be the educators of the race.

Hence the necessity of special attention to their early education. Every large city like ours ought to have a normal deparament in the high school or a separate "training school,"
